ARUBA SURF CLUB

The Dutch island of Aruba has one of the highest repeat visitor rates in the Caribbean. And for good reason – this island paradise is renowned for its perpetually sunny climate and stunning natural beauty. The island consistently tops the travel industry’s “Best Beaches” lists. And if you’re more at home on dry land, you’ll find challenging golf courses nearby and miles of tranquil trails to explore. Much of the island still remains undeveloped, so visitors can get an up-close glimpse at native wildlife living in diverse habitats such as coral reefs, inland rock formations, cacti clusters and dreamlike divi-divi trees. But that’s just the beginning.
